Innovation Unleashed MSIs at the Heart of Data Science Evolution

A workshop particularly designed for faculty and advanced graduate students

Tuesday February 27, 2024

9:00am to 10:30am

Corbett Center Senate Chambers, Room 302

Join us as Dr. H. Justin Ballenger, Deputy Director of the Atlanta University Center Data Science Initiative, facilitates a dynamic 2-hour session centered on the pivotal role of MSIs in catalyzing innovation within data science academic and research programs. Engage in meaningful discussions with fellow faculty members on crafting culturally relevant data science curricula, harnessing cultural assets to inspire innovation in data science research, navigating culturally and ethically responsible research practices, and establishing collaborative research partnerships with peers from MSIs. Your expertise and insights will contribute to shaping the future of data science education and research at our institution.
