You received this email by Bcc because you are designated as a PI for an approved Return to Research and Creativity Safety Plan.

It is your responsibility to share this information with faculty, staff, and students on your plan.

All,

First, thank you for being part of NMSU's Return to Research and Creativity (RTRC) and welcome to the start of Fall semester classes. Second, two important items:

- All PIs, students and staff who are included in a RTRC Safety Plan MUST perform a daily Self-Check, which takes less than one minute to complete. Answer yes to the final question about registering the self-check. Failure to comply with this requirement will result in a retraction of Plan approval.
- If and when quarantine restrictions ease, visiting researchers will be handled through the current RTRC process by having them complete the RTRC Training Package, which includes a signed Commitment to Public Health Practices. In turn, visiting researchers will be added to applicable RTRC safety plans using the email approval process that we have been using all along.
